

Mattec MES: for a more responsive business

Meet John.

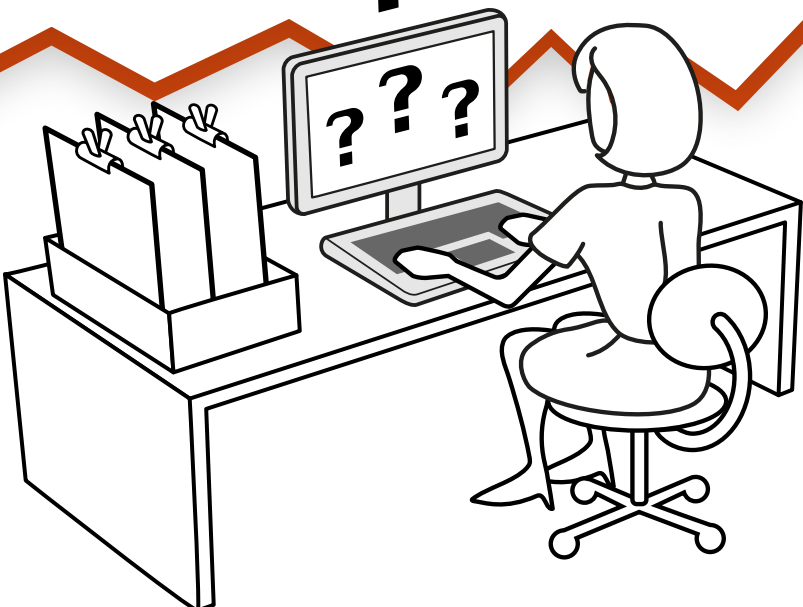

He'd like to run an efficient and responsive production environment...

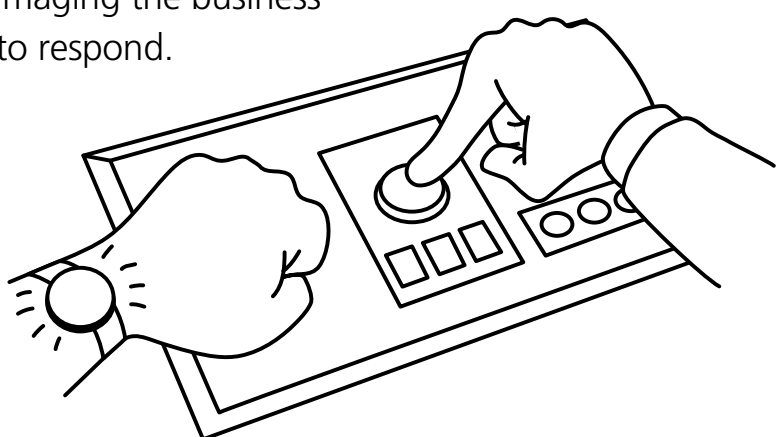

...but collecting information is time-consuming and complex, with high levels of manual intervention.

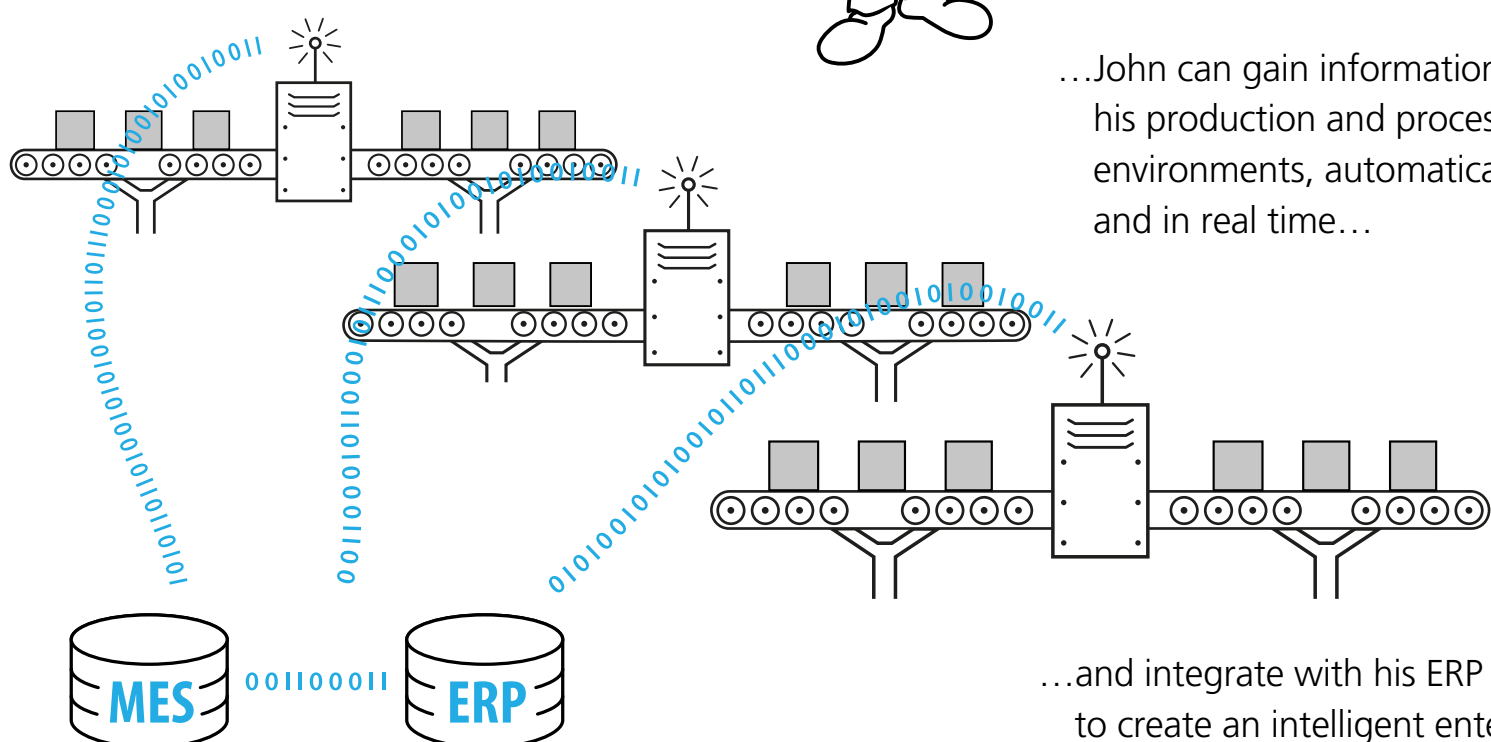

Manual errors, rekeying, and poor visibility of data are disconnecting the shop floor from the top floor...

...and damaging the business' ability to respond.

But with Epicor Mattec MES...

...John can gain information from his production and process environments, automatically and in real time...

...and integrate with his ERP system to create an intelligent enterprise.

Mattec MES connects John's shop floor to his top floor, helping him gear up performance.

It also helps him reduce waste and downtime, unlock capacity, improve cycle times, speed up decision-making in his business and reduce energy costs.

With improved visibility and control, John's business can respond faster and increase customer satisfaction.

If your MES isn't giving you the responsiveness you need, we should talk.
